

00:09

There aren't many communities like this one.

00:13

One foot in the Pacific, the other in the desert.

00:17

Home to the world's greatest fighting forces in a community of regular people, fighting every day for their families, their friends,

00:25

the place they call home.

00:27

Working to carve out a better life for themselves in a patch of California

00:30

that's more focused on authenticity than image - more substance than show.

00:35

Our members spend their days working, and their free time playing.

00:38

They plan, they grow, they fight for what's important. And when they bank, they bank here...

00:43

Not just because of low loan rates or low fees. They bank here because we help them get stuff done. We help make things possible.

00:51

It's a philosophy that was forged in 1952

00:55

Camp Pendleton, where our credit union was formed with a mission to serve Marines, their families, their community.

01:02

Seven decades later and we're still growing strong. It comes from dedication, commitment, courage, service to those who count on you. We do it with 100% commitment and zero excuses.

01:08

01:13

We're the place to get started and the place to kick it into high gear. To launch something great and to pursue big goals.

01:21

We're for the trailblazers and the thrill seekers - the craftsmen and the taste makers - those dedicated to country and community, family and friends. So to all we serve we say: Dream big. We got you.

01:29

01:35

We're Frontwave Credit Union. And we fight for our members.
